She Often Earns $5.00 in an Hour

The American Housewife, realizing the value of advertising often earns $5.00 an hour just by reading the newspaper. She studies the advertising and learns where she can buy things she needs at the lowest prices. Then, she advertises her own business, "baiting from the ads." Often she merely steps to her phone and orders the advertised merchandise. Telephone purchases are made with complete confidence because she selects advertised brands which she knows have the uniformly high quality she can depend upon. Or, if she wishes to shop in person, she makes trips easier by going directly where bargains abound. Compare this modern American way of buying with those of days before advertising. In those days, Mrs. America dangled a market basket from her arm and started an expedition of exploration, with no advance knowledge of products she was to buy. She could not step up to a display counter and choose brands and quantities, with confidence in their quality. She bought from buckets and barrels and hoped for passable quality but seldom got it. Or, if she wished to buy by guess or by the American Way—the way made possible by advertising?
